GAME RULES:

Blackjack is played with 8 standard decks of 52 cards (Jokers not included).
The cards are re–shuffled for each game round.
Number cards, 2–10, count as face value.
Face cards, kings, queens and jacks, are equal in value to 10 and aces are valued at either 1 or 11. No particular significance is given to any of the 4 suits..

Play takes place against a computerized dealer. The dealer is dealt two cards, and the player is dealt two cards in each box. The player's cards are dealt face up, while only the dealer's first card is shown. A player can choose an additional card by clicking HIT. A player may repeat this as many times as he likes so long as the total of his cards does not equal or exceed 21. If the total surpasses 21, it is considered a bust and the player automatically loses.
Once a player is satisfied with the cards they are holding, they should click STAND. This is repeated for all the hands the player is playing.
After the player has finished all staked hands unless they are Bust on all hands, it is the dealer's turn to reveal his face down card.
The dealer must HIT and draw more cards if their hand is total is below 17.
Once the dealer’s hand is equal to or greater than 17, the winner is decided.
If the value of the player's card is greater than the dealer's, or if the dealer busts then the player is the winner and is paid at evens(1:1).

If the player's card total is the same as the dealer it is considered a PUSH and the player gets to keep his bet.

GAME RULES:

Blackjack

If a 10–value card, i.e. the number 10 card of any suit or a King, Queen or Jack, plus an ace is initially dealt in any hand, it is considered Blackjack. The player wins 1.5 times his bet when he is dealt a Blackjack. The player automatically loses if the dealer is dealt a Blackjack.

If both are dealt a Blackjack it is considered a push and the player gets his bet back.

Insurance

If the visible card of the dealer is an ace, the player may buy insurance by betting an additional 0.5 times his initial bet. If the dealer then gets Blackjack, the player will win 2 times his insurance bet If the dealer does not get Blackjack, then the player loses his insurance bet and the outcome of his initial bet is determined by the total of the cards he is holding vs. the dealer's cards..

Splitting

If a player is dealt two cards of the same value (including two of the same face cards), he is entitled to split the cards if he doubles his initial stake so that the same stake can be placed on both hands of the split. If you split a hand, Blackjack (3:2) cannot be called on that hand – a winning hand in this situation will be paid at evens(1:1). Only one split is allowed per hand The Player will now be playing two hands of Blackjack, one at a time. The first hand is dealt a second card. The player must decide whether they would like to STAND, DOUBLE or take another card by clicking Hit. Once the player has finished the first hand, he must move onto the second, repeating the same process. After the player is satisfied with both hands it is the dealer's turn. The dealer will now reveal his other card and take additional cards until he has a total of 17 or more.

Note: The player cannot hit on split aces. The dealer deals a second card only for each hand.

GAME RULES:

Double

The player may double his bet after viewing his initial two cards. If you chose to double you will buy one additional card to your hand and then if you do not bust you must stand. A player is also able to Double after a Split, except when splitting two aces.

Note: The Min/Max sign indicates the minimum and maximum bet per (initial) hand.It is possible though to split/double this stake if the player choose to do that.

MALFUNCTION MANAGEMENT

If a player attempts to access a game using an invalidated session, (for example, due to inactivity or system restart) an error message is displayed in the game. The player can then log on again and resume game play. The game state is always stored so the player can resume game play exactly where he or she left off. In case of an HTTP error, network timeout or server error a "technical error" message will be displayed to the player.

INFORMATION TO THE PLAYER

Players have access to game rules from within the game at all times.
